In-Text Citations:
Always cite every fact, figure, or idea from an outside source in parenthesis at end sentence:

- Freddy Mercury was noted for unusual songs like “I’m going slightly mad” (Mercury, 1991).

If following a quote, include author, year, and page number:

- “I’m going slightly mad” (Mercury, 1991, p. 9).

Note: If a source does not have an author, put the title first. The date should always come second.

If the author’s name is in the sentence, include the date after the name:

- Mercury (1991) wrote, “I’m going slightly mad” (p. 9).

If it is not a direct quote, page number need not be included:

- He had gone slightly mad (Mercury, 1991).
